Painful Scalp Wound.

Oscar Davis, colored, thirty-three years of age, whose home is 307 Virginia avenue southwest, was treated at the Emergency Hospital this morning for a painful scalp wound. It is alleged that the injury was inflicted with a brick by Samuel Fletcher while the men were engaged in a row at the new bank building on 15th street. His hurt was not serious, and he returned to work soon after the surgeons had finished their labors on him.

Discussion of Proposition for Compulsory Education.

EMINENT SPEAKERS HEARD

Views of Representative Littlefield and Representative Greene.

SAY BILL WILL PASS THE HOUSE

Children Numerous on the Unenrolled List-Become Menace to Society Later in Life.

Rev. Ulysses G. B. P'erce, pastor of All Souls' Church, presided over the mass meeting held last evening at the Public Library to discuss compulsory education Seated upon the platform were Rev. Mr. Pierce, Representative William S. Greene of Massachusetts, Representative Litt'effeld of Maine and Miss Green of the Associated Charities. Representative Littlefield was District of Columbia, partly cloudy tenight part: "The common school system is, and of a right should be, an object of universal taxation. The maintenance of the common school system is as essential as that of the public roads and highways.

"The common school is the university of the common people, and in the intelligence of these people, in the last analysis, lies the welfare of our government. It has been es timated by a school statistician of Massaclusetts that each day which a boy is ab ent from school means an actual loss of $10 to that boy.

"Nor is the wage the only essential in-volved in the solution of the school problem. but the making of law-abiding citizens is also a great part of the work. I have no sympathy with the proposition that education is detrimental to our colored friends. "I have not the sightest hestiancy in satisfact that will be passed by the House. sire of Congress to make Washington the finest city in the world not only in buildcriment, but in its school system as well. The school report for 1904-5, which has just been made public shows that there are in the city 45,667 children enrolled in the primary and grammar grades, while 3,500 are not yet enrolled. It also shows that the average drily absences amounted to 12.961, or 26 per cent of the enrollment. It is an injustice that only 75 per cent of the school youth should receive the entire benefit of the $1.667.765 appropriation for school pur-

"There are more than 100,000 children in the Indian Territory who are deprived of school facilities. What can you expect from citizens raised in such surroundings? It is absolutely necessary to have wise and udicious legislation to compel attendance in the common schools.

"Every state which is governed by the enlightened principles of law is an exponent correct solution to the question in

Difficulties Met With.

Representative Greene of Massachusetts was the next speaker. Being a member of the District committee Mr. Greene takes great interest in District affairs. He said: "In our deliberations on this subject these are some of the difficulties with which we contended: There are some who are of the opinion that the free text-book system should be abolished, but this mistake will not be made if I can prevent it. Others made an effort to place the age limit at fourteen instead of twelve years, an 1 still others dared to declare that child-labor legislation was unnecessary, as child labor did not exist in Washington. An investigation, showing that there are 4,500 employed children in the city who are not compelled to attend school, disproved this assertion. "Superintendent Stuart spoke the truth when he declared that a larger percentage of expenses of the District are devoted to the police than to the schools. Legislators, when unsuccessful in prosecuting their claims, are wont to lay the blame upon Speaker Cannon. I approached him upon this subject of compulsory education, and this is his reply: 'I agree with you. Follow it up, present your facts clearly and you will have no trouble with your bill in the House of Representatives.'

"If I had my way the people of Washington would take care of themselves, instead of allowing this privilege to men who are in the city on an average of three are in the city on an average of three months in the year. Nevertheless, the people must be brought to understand that they must undertake the education of all three three times to be suffered to the capital city. The will of George W. King, dated September 5, 1891, has been filed for probate in the District Supreme Court. Non-Educated Become a Menace. Miss Ida Green of the Associated Charities was the last speaker upon the program. She declared, with emphasis, that

As the result of an investigation made in As the result of an investigation made in January among the families living on one side of a certain street for a distance of one block, it was found that 42 hildren were not in school and 27 were in attendance, while but 5 of these latter were above the third grade. She pointed out that a child should be taught the discipline of the school room as well as the power to read and write

Lack Backbone.

Miss Green said the majority of the people who come into contact with others as askers of assistance are those who seem to move along the line of least resistance and who have, as some one has said, "wishbones instead of backbones." Continuing. Miss Green said:

"Some people say that the Associated Charities have a peculiar way of dispensing charity, and that they do not like the system. Well, they can correct that if they will only aid in the movement. The Associated Charities invites persons to become permers of the conferences that are come members of the conferences that are attached to the various stations of the charities in the different sections of the charities in the different sections of the city. One does not have to be a contributor to the charities to become a member of one of the conferences and to give aid in determining how the work of the Associated Charities shall be carried on in different sections of the city."

In conclusion, Miss Green spoke of the children of the alleys and of the way that many of them grow up.

TIRED OF LIVING. Mrs. Lucy Collins Therefore Swallow-

Mrs. Lucy Collins, thirty-two years of age, told the physicians at the Emergency Hospital last night that she was tired of living. She had been removed to the hospital from the house of a friend, Mrs. Emlly Robinson, 924 E street, after she had swall swed a dose of morphine. Mrs. Collins, who is a dressmaker, occupies a room at 404 6th street, and was at the E street house carring for hor tribud. house caring for her friend who was sick. It is said that she had often remarked that she intended to end her life, and last night when she imparted the information Mrs. Robinson attributed no significance to the remark.

She did give it serious consideration, however, when the dressmaker consumed the contents of a small bottle and became ill.

An ambulance was summoned and the sick woman hurriedly conveyed to the operat-ing room at the hospital. The attending physicians relieved her of as much of the poison as they could and later in the night she was sent to a ward. At the hospital this morning it was stated that the patient was in fairly good condition, and that her recovery is expected.

Mrs. Collins, it is said, has lived in the 6th street house for only a few months. A number of friends called at the hospital last night and this morning to see her and inquire about the condition of the patient. Dr. White conversed with Mrs. Collins after she was restored to consciousness and sae told him she was tired of living, but did not give her reasons for being despondent.

Will of George W. King.

At the death of Mrs. King her two sisters are to receive one-half of the property and the other half is to go to Mrs. Annie Ingraham.

COD LIVER OIL.

It almost makes you sick to think of it, but it isn't nearly as bad as it used to be. The improved method of refining it makes it much easier to take, and when made into Scott's Emulsion almost every one can take it. Most children like it and all children that are not robust are benefited by it. When the doctor says "Take cod liver oil," he generally means Scott's Emulsion; ask him if he doesn't. They know it is more easily digested and better than the plain

Music was furnished by the Columbia Commandery Quartet. omposed of Messrs, Perry Turpin, Charles Hancock, J. Henry Kaiser and Alex Mo sher, who sang the touching airs with which the deceased was so familiar in life and which were his favorites. Rev. Dr. Rumer also read the impressive service for the dead of the Presbyterian church at the grave and the solemn ceremonies of the masonic fraternity followed. Brief services were held at the grave by Knights of the Maccabees in addition to the service by the Knights Templar.

Floral Tributes. A number of pretty floral pieces were sent by organizations, individuals, including the coat-of-arms of Maryland in bright spring flowers from the legislature of that state, of which deceased was an honored member and leader; a design from the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of Almas Temple, and others from Columbia Commandery. Young Men's Club of Kensington, of which Mr. Fenton was a past president, and a number of individual friends. In attendance at the obsequies were dele gations of Knights Templar from Crusade Commandery of Baltimore and Mary Commandery of Philadelphia. Deceased was an honorary member of the latter body and had only received his certificate of member-ship last Thursday. There were also pres-ent members of the legislature of Maryland. citizens of Kensington, many friends from this city and vicinity, and members of the bar of the District.
